

THE QUARTERIAN 1953

Published by
THE SENIOR CLASS OF
SWAN QUARTER HIGH SCHOOL
Swan Quarter, North Carolina

Dedication

In deep appreciation of the importance of the influence of our vocational departments and our splendid vocational teachers, we, the Seniors of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-three, take much pleasure in dedicating this, our issue of THE QUARTERIAN, to Mrs. Alice R. Cann and Mr. J. M. Worrell, our vocational teachers. For their patience, understanding, and unselfishness, we are indeed grateful.

Class History

In September 1949 the teachers of Fairfield, Sladesville, and Swan Quarter Schools made new and strange discoveries. Just inside the front doors, they found huddled together in mute embarrassment and anxiety the members of what has become the Class of 1953 of Swan Quarter School.

Gently attempting to dispel the fears of the strangers, the faculties bade them enter and spent the next few weeks attempting to gain their confidence and friendship. This they accomplished.

The strangers were given the name, "Freshmen," and became a part of the life of their school. They were taught many new, strange customs and manners and were required to learn difficult lessons. At first, they often wished they had never been found, but before the year was over, they became thoroughly at home in their new surroundings.

Outstanding activities of the Freshman year included going to the State Fair, picnics, and initiation in FFA and FHA.

Athletics and dramatics, too, took on a new meaning for the Freshmen. Kay Bell played on the girls' basketball team, while William Equils made the boys' basketball team. As for dramatics, Anne Shelton, Ella Lou Cahoon, and Gene Swindell had leading parts in the Class Night exercises of the Class of '50.

When school reopened in September 1950, the strangers of '49 found themselves new, self-confident Sophomores. The Sladesville group welcomed a new member, Lavons Austin.

Again Kay Bell made the basketball team, and had a role in the senior play. Travis Sadler, Merlin Berry, Wayne McKinney, Ella Lou Cahoon, Jane Midyette, Christine Hudson, and Wendell Williams made the basketball teams. The Swan Quarter Sophomores were particularly proud of the scholastic attainment of Pratt Williamson, Jr., Merlin Berry, Gene Swindell, Ella Lou Cahoon, Anne Shelton, and Odessa Williams, who were taken into the Beta Club.

In September 1951 the Sophomores became Juniors. As this was a year of hard work and many activities, the class organizations are worthy of note. At Fairfield, Jane Midyette was elected president; Wendell Williams, vice president; and Christine Hudson, secretary. At Sladesville, Kay Bell was president; Lavons Austin, vice president; and Roy Garrish, secretary and treasurer. At Swan Quarter, Anne Shelton was president; Peggy Gibbs, vice president; Ella Lou Cahoon, secretary; Odessa Williams, treasurer; and Helen Gibbs, reporter.

By this time the faculties were beginning to realize the real values of those 34 strangers of '49. In February all the Fairfield Juniors had leading parts in the senior play, "Along Came Charlie." In Swan Quarter, Gene Swindell, Wayne McKinney, Merlin Berry, Odessa Williams, and Anne Shelton had parts in the senior play, "Little Women." Those playing basketball as Freshmen and Sophomores were holding their own in basketball as well as softball, and Roy Garrish was added to the teams.

The big events of the year were the Junior-Senior banquets. Each was a huge success, and the Juniors will long remember the beautiful settings of lovely flowers, soft lights, beautiful girls and handsome young men, at Mattamuskeet Lodge, Saleeby's, and Forest Manor.

Perhaps the most exciting event was the receiving of the class rings by Fairfield and Sladesville Juniors, while Swan Quarter Juniors had only the pleasure of selecting theirs. The awards to Juniors must not be overlooked. Pratt Williamson, Jr., and Jane Midyette received citizenship awards; Cleron Carawan, an athletic medal; and Merlin Berry, a bus driver's pin.

The first few months of 1953 meant another period of orientation for this class. During 1952 the state saw fit to consolidate Fairfield, Sladesville and Swan Quarter Schools at Swan Quarter. The faculty, with gentleness and courtesy, helped to promote a friendly and cooperative spirit among the groups; and within a short time the best of team work was exemplified.

The organization of the Senior Class was noteworthy. Jane Midyette was elected president; Kay Bell, vice president; Ella Lou Cahoon, secretary; Pratt Williamson, Jr., treasurer; Anne Shelton, reporter. Soon after election of officers, the annual staff, with Odessa Williams as editor-in-chief, was named. Immediately the class began selling ads and sponsoring activities to raise money. Many long, tedious hours of work were spent to make the QUARTERIAN of 1953 the best annual. The class really did itself proud when it presented the senior play, "Here Comes Charlie."

As this history goes to press, the Seniors have only one concern - that of graduation. On June 2, 1953, they will stand together the last time as a class. As they part, may they look forward to their alumni career of even greater glory than their four years of high school.

Class Prophecy

I was attending a teachers' convention at Columbia University. While I was walking down Broadway in New York City, a hearty gust of wind blew off my hat. I was thankful to a handsome young man who ran gracefully after my bonnet.

Surprise reigned when I perceived that the young man was none other than youthful Grey Hopkins. We were elated at the meeting - were soon talking about the 1953 Seniors of the Alma Mater, and to our surprise we were able to trace each of them.

Gene Swindell is a soloist in Guy Lombardo's band. Anne Shelton, the Society Editor for "The New York Sun," often puts Odessa Williams, a Paris-trained designer and model, in the spotlight. Christine Hudson has finally reached her goal of being a private secretary and to none other than the Director of the F. B. I. Roy Garrish is Vice President of the Greyhound Bus Company, while Ralph Hodges sells new and used cars and, with his high-class chauffeur, rides in a Cadillac.

Helen Gibbs is an author and has published a top seller in 1963. Reverend Merlin Berry conducts the devotionals each week at Swan Quarter School, while Ella Lou Cahoon, the President of the P. T. A., has succeeded in getting all doors of the classrooms equipped with electric eyes.

Kay Bell, who preferred to remain at home also, is an authority on the fertilization of flowers. Wendell Williams is the Farm Agent in Hyde County. His recent seed experiments brought about a wonderful product. Travis Sadler is now coaching basketball at Mississippi University.

Several of our classmates drifted to the Capital City. Pratt Williamson, Jr. is the President's private photographer, and Wayne McKinney is a member of the police force there.

Peggy Gibbs has elevated herself to the position of San Francisco's friendliest hotel receptionist. Lavons Austin, after taking private lessons from Milton Berle, is the most popular comedian on TV.

Grey and I could not reminisce for long because he was en route to Alaska, where he owns a prosperous fur business.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-three of Swan Quarter High School, in the County of Hyde, the State of North Carolina, being of sound mind, and realizing our impending departure from this school, do hereby declare and make this our Last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

We give and leave to the Juniors our well-known nerve, which they will need next year, and all the examination questions we have been given during the past year.

ARTICLE II

To our good friends, the Sophomore class, we leave our patience. It will be found useful as the only means by which they can endure the Juniors.

ARTICLE III

To the Freshmen we leave our place in the lunch line. We think they have been last long enough.

ARTICLE IV

To Mrs. Harris we leave all our appreciation and thanks for her guidance as our annual and class advisor.

ARTICLE V

The smaller bequests are as follows:

- Item 1. Gene A. Swindell wills his ability to drive and repair an A-Model to anyone who will take the risk.
- Item 2. Lavons Austin leaves his dry wit to Milton Pittman.
- Item 3. Anne Shelton leaves her seat on the scorekeeper's bench to Rosetta Spencer and hopes she will use it to her best ability.
- Item 4. Roy Garrish leaves his winning ways with the girls and teachers to Roger Swindell.
- Item 5. Merlin Berry leaves his curls to Jimmy Spencer. Are you sure you can spare them, Merlin?
- Item 6. Kay Bell leaves her basketball suit and height to Sybil Swindell.
- Item 7. Ralph Hodges leaves his lost books to whoever can find them.
- Item 8. Wayne McKinney leaves his height to be divided between Billy Joe Cutrell and Jimmy Brickhouse.
- Item 9. Odessa Williams leaves, and if she leaves anything worth while, it is to be divided among the Juniors.
- Item 10. Travis Sadler leaves his crew hair cut to Murray Cartwright.
- Item 11. Christine Hudson leaves her Wake Forest spirit to Argie Lee Payne, and hopes that Argie Lee will really join her at Wake Forest.
- Item 12. Jane Midyette leaves her ability to laugh at nothing to Doris Tunnell.
- Item 13. Ella Lou Cahoon leaves her senior "mantle of dignity" to Jane Harris.
- Item 14. Wendell Williams bequeaths his love for geometry to Ben Blake.
- Item 15. Grey Hopkins leaves his quiet, easy-going way to Floyd Williams.
- Item 16. Pratt Williamson, Jr., bequeaths his knowledge of rules and facts to Ralph Swindell.
- Item 17. Peggy Gibbs wills her ability to memorize to all those Algebra II students who have so much trouble memorizing rules and definitions.
- Item 18. Helen Gibbs leaves her ambition to all those who attend school because they have to attend.

Besides these bequests, we leave our best wishes to any and all who may desire them.

Finally, we do hereby name and appoint as the sole executor of this, our Last Will and Testament, our principal, Mr. Gay.

In witness whereof, we, the Class of 1953, the testator, have set our seal on this twentieth day of May in the year of 1953.

- A is for Alice, the musician of the class; and for Anna Mae, the basketball girl star.
- B is for Billy Joe, the shortest we know; and Bobby Ray, the bashful one.
- C is for Claudia, who is very quiet.
- D is for Dorothy, always dreaming of Alfred; for Donald, the Romeo; and for Dale, the smallest girl.
- E is for Elizabeth, whose smile is charming; and also Edward Roy, who toots the horn at the ball games.
- F is for Frankie, whose charm is in her hair.
- G is for Gracie and also for Glenn. They both have curls and expressions so pleasant.
- J is for Junior, one of the smartest; for Josephine, too, who dislikes her name; and then there is Jimmy, little but loud; and also John, known better as Johnathon.
- L is for Leslie, who looks so swell; and for Lois Ann, who thinks mostly of the future.
- M is for Mary Louise, better known as "Squeezer."
- N is for Nelson, the class provoker.
- P is for Polly, the class mermaid.
- R is for Roger Allen, the brains of the class; for Royce, the upside down reader; and Ruth, better known as "Rooster."
- S is for Sybil, who refuses wearing lipstick; for Senorita, who is called "Tap."
- V is for Victor, the tease of the class.
- W is for Walter and also for Wayne: Walter Wheeler, known as Georgie; Walter Mann, sometimes called Walter Woman; Wayne Berry, with the pretty lips; and Wayne Bell, whose hobby is girls.
- Z is, of course, for Z. B. He is the basketball star of the class and of the school.
