Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1958, dedicate this, our edition of The Quarterian to our coach and teacher of mathematics and science, Mr. E. K. Mann. For his guidance, his answers to our many questions, and his undying hope in our sports activities, we are grateful; and we take this opportunity to express our gratitude.

Mrs. Carolyn Harris

Our advisor, teacher, friend
Present whenever we're in need
To supply the gerund, noun, or verb
To praise a well-done deed.

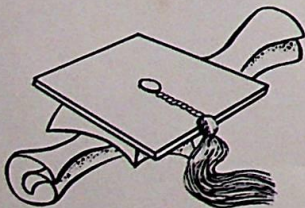

Always there behind the scenes
At parties, suppers, and plays.
Her many helpful services to each of us
We'll remember throughout our days.

A very warm and hearty thank-you
We each say to you, and
We pray the good Lord up above
Will guide you by His Hand.

The Log Of The Class Of 1958

In September, 1954, thirty-one travellers, called Freshmen, set out on a four-year journey that has almost come to an end. The first lap was spent "getting the feel of the road." Their leaders were Bobby Dunbar, head, Leah Williams, Betty Sears, Margaret Credle, and Evelyn Wheeler with Mrs. Pauline Berry, advisor.

Realizing they would pass this way but once and wanting to get the most out of their high school journey, the Freshmen joined several travellers clubs including FFA, FHA, and the Glee Club. Christine Sadler, Betty Simmons, Patricia Swindell, Evelyn Wheeler, Leah Williams, Lynn Roberts, Dorothy Ann Cuthrell, Bobby Dunbar, and Charles Jarvis spent their extra time playing basketball; while Betty Sears, Sally Ann Harris, Nathan Sears, and Bill Griffin spent hours practicing and leading yells.

During the Freshmen year, Sally Ann, Delbert Cahoon, Edna Earle Pittman, and Joseph Spring took side roads and left the group completely. Thus, in September, 1955, there were only twenty-five travellers to begin the Sophomore lap of the journey. Their leaders were Betty Simmons, head, Myla Baum, Thomas Jones, Rena Sparrow, Patricia, and Bill with Mrs. Sarah Campbell, advisor. Thomas, Patricia, and Bill joined the Beta Club and sidetracked for a four-days detour to the Beta Convention in Asheville. Perhaps the most enjoyable stop for all was the Sophomore-Senior party. Linda Gibbs and Christine took side roads to matrimony and did not continue the journey with the Class of '58.

In 1956, the travellers were separated at a road block in the main highway. At Engelhard, Myla and Patty Carawan played basketball; Myla was the class treasurer; Myla, Woodley, Thomas, Betty, and Patty were in the class play "Juke Box." They really enjoyed the short stop to plan and decorate for the "Fairyland" Junior-Senior. Lynn, at Belhaven, was in the Beta Club and FTA and played basketball. At Swan Quarter, Doris, head, Dorothy Ann, Margaret, Patricia, Sandra, and Bobby were the leaders; and Mrs. Iberia Tunnell, conductor. Evelyn joined the Beta Club. Highlights included editing the Reflector, attending the State Fair, presenting "Good Gracious, Grandma," taking a four-days detour to Washington, D.C., and giving the Seniors a "Garden Party." Shelby Sawyer and Leah took the side road to matrimony.

In September, 1957, nineteen of the original travellers reunited and set out on the fourth, last, and busiest lap of the four-year trip. The leaders were Lynn, head, Myla, Margaret, Patricia, Bobby, Evelyn, and Bill. Mrs. Carolyn Harris was along to give much needed advice. They stopped to select their class rings, to edit The Quarterian, and to present "Hot Ice." On October 25, they stopped in at the Halloween Carnival and saw Thomas Jones and Doris Raburn, crowned King and Queen. The Seniors held their own in basketball; while Sandra, Doris, Myla, and Frances led the yells.

The Seniors are now looking forward to reaching their destination, Graduation. At this great intersection they will leave the caravan, and each will go his separate way on life's wonderful journey.

Prophecy Of Class Of 1958

News flash! The Seniors of West Hyde will be the first people to use Dr. Sputnik's new wonder machine--an amazing device which has the power to search into the future, reveal the hidden, and make known the secret.

Naturally excitement is high as the Seniors await the arrival of Dr. Sputnik and his futuristic machine. However, a hush falls over the group when he arrives and sets up the machine, and they become spellbound at the scenes revealed by the Sputnik mechanism.

First, a classroom appears and the faces of little children show that they are very much interested in what the teacher, Myla Baum, is saying. She always did have a way with children.

We see Margaret Credle in Park View Hospital in Rocky Mount, and we know that she is the best loved nurse by many of her patients.

Appearing next is a scene of a busy telephone office in the Pentagon building. There, Dorothy Ann Cuthrell, looking happy and satisfied, is supervisor over twenty-five operators.

In the next scene we see a throng of people gazing at a plane that has just landed. From the cockpit step Leland Harris and Charles Jarvis. They have just completed testing another of the new jet planes.

Then we see Dewey Sawyer, who is head mechanic in charge of school buses at Hackney Bus Co. in Wilson. For Dewey, there's no other job like it.

Next we see a lovely room of socialites where several youngwives are together for bridge. Two of them are Frances Ann Williams and Patty Carawan.

As again the scene changes, we see an interior decorator redecorating the Empire State Building. She is almost covered in material. Look again, it's Patricia Swindell.

And then working in the fourth dimension, as it were, we find ourselves in a Chinese classroom where Doris Raburn is teaching English to the Chinese children.

A country church comes into view. At the door we recognize Bill Griffin shaking hands with each person and accepting humbly, "That was a fine sermon, Preacher."

Suddenly, excitement fills the air as the winning car races over the finish line at the Indianapolis Speedway. Who could the driver be but David Mason!

Another scene in Washington, D. C. This time in the FBI building where Thomas Jones, head of fingerprinting, engages Betty Simmons, secretary, in discussion.

Next we see Evelyn Wheeler briskly typing manuscripts for a famous writer. Close by is her Coast Guard husband.

In Hollywood we discover Lynn Roberts with "Oh, no, it can't be, Elvis Presley! But it is, and with him are his children. We see it. Lynn is a tutor.

As the future unfolds, we see Dr. Robert Dunbar, M.D., coming out of the examining room at Walter Reid Hospital. Following him is the President of the U. S.

Viewing further we see Sandra Jennettee busy in a conference with some of the leading designers of the world. Sandra is introducing a new style in fashions.

Next we see what appears to be a village. But, no, it's only a tourist court. It must be Woodley Sadler's since the name is The W. Sadler Court.

Will Dr. Sputnik's invention be a success: Read this prophecy again in ten years to find out.

Last Will And Testament

We, the Seniors of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-eight, of West Hyde High School, in the County of Hyde, the State of North Carolina, being in a good mental condition, and having good temperament, do hereby make this, our Last Will and Testament, rendering null and void, any former wills that may have been made by us.

Article I

To the faculty, we leave our deepest appreciation for their devoted time and continuous understanding.

Article II

To the Juniors, we leave the many Senior privileges.

Article III

To the Sophomores, we will our typing ability and hope they have as much fun using it as we did.

Article IV

To the Freshmen, we leave our dignity and order in the library.

Article V

To our parents we leave our love and gratefulness for their many years of loving guidance.

Article VI

We make the following individual bequests:

Item I. Myla Baum leaves her winning smile to Nancy Stotesberry.

Item II. Margaret Credle bequeaths her desire for learning to Merlin Carawan.

Item III. Dorothy Ann Cuthrell wills her reserved ways to Sarah Sears.

Item IV. Sandra Jennette bequeaths her position as chief cheerleader to Rosanna Carawan.

Item V. Doris Raburn leaves her friendly ways to Marie Midyette.

Item VI. Lynn Roberts bequeaths her understanding of geometry to J.P. O'Neal.

Item VII. Betty Simmons leaves her gift of "gab" to Elizabeth Ann Harris.

Item VIII. Patricia Swindell wills her vivid imagination to Frances Cahoon.

Item IX. Frances Williams bequeaths her quiet ways to Joe Henry Bishop.

Item X. Evelyn Wheeler wills her vitality and ability "to get things done" to Glenn Mooney.

Item XI. David Mason leaves his mischievous ways to Gene Carawan.

Item XII. Bobby Dunbar wills his talent for acting on stage, or off, to Sherlin Carawan.

Item XIII. Leland Harris leaves his ability to tell a joke, without laughing, to Eric Swindell.

Item XIV. Thomas Jones wills his artistic ability to Billy Gene Carawan.

Item XV. Woodley Sadler bequeaths his slow, carefree ways to Mrs. Carolyn Harris.

Item XVI. Dewey Sawyer leaves bus 68 to whoever will take as much pride in driving it as he.

Item XVII. Bill Griffin wills his ability to succeed in any field to Jimmy McKinney.

Item XVIII. Charles Jarvis bequeaths his ability to get out of tight "jams" to Joe Sadler.

Item XIX. Patty Carawan leaves her ability "to be composed" in any situation to Joyce O'Neal.

We hereby appoint Mrs. Carolyn Harris, our advisor, sole executor of this our Last Will and Testament. In witness whereof, we, the Senior Class of 1958, do set seal on this, the twenty-ninth day of May, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-eight.

Bill,

you have asked me to write in your annual for quite a number of years, but this one is the hardest to do. I don't mind so much saying good-bye to school days, but I do hate to say "so long" to all my classmates. Since we are all going separate ways, we probably won't see as much of each other as we would like to. I am hoping that our class will have a five year reunion and then it won't be so bad. After five years, it will be nice to see how much each one has changed.

Bill, it has been real nice knowing you and going to school with you for almost 12 years. We have had our differences in the past, but then - variety is the spice of life, so they say. The best part of that was that we still remained friends, even though we had different opinions. You are a real nice guy and it has been a real pleasure knowing you. I just hope you can say the same for me.

 In just a few more days, ~~we'll~~ we'll be saying "good-bye", knowing not whether we'll ever see any of our classmates again.
 Each of us will go our separate ways. It's sad to think about but we can't be children forever, we have to grow up into men and women and make decisions for ourselves. And may it be God's will that each member of our Senior Class of '68 will make the decision to walk with God throughout his life.

A close friend
Horias

Bill,

This is our last chance to write in each others annuals, writing things that we will always look back and cherish, - so here goes.

To me you are an out-standing person in every field, and I have really enjoyed having you as my close friend. The fun on trips, dates and at your house will always be remembered.

When I left Fairfield school and came to Swan Quarter little did I know that I would feel the way that I do toward you and Pat. And share some of the experiences that we have shared, in religion, in love affairs and many more.

You have the kindest and sweetest parents and I will always remember them, because of the little things they do that mean so much to me.

When you preach your first sermon I want to be right there on the front seat listening to every word. And I know that your life will always (with God at your side) be an example for others to follow.

Lots of love and luck to you and Pat.

"A real sweet couple!"

A friend always
