

Ancestors of Phillip Pasfield of Wethersfield, Essex, England

Phillip Pasfield was born in Wethersfield about 1615 and died in early 1685 in Wethersfield. He lived there his entire life, as did his ancestors going back at least 250 years. This paper will identify and document his known ancestors.

Community of Wethersfield

Wethersfield is now and always has been a very small community in northwest Essex County. Its history dates back to at least 1190.^[1] The earliest known map dated in 1741 shows the roads that connect Wethersfield to other nearby towns and a number of small properties on either side of those roads.^[2]

Although there are very few Essex County records prior to 1600, Phillip's ancestors can be traced through them back to the early 1400s in Wethersfield. The surviving parish records in Wethersfield begin about 1650. Fortunately there are wills from 1500 and some land and court records available from the 1300s in the Essex County archives. There are also lawsuits in London Chancery courts that help the genealogical researcher trace Phillip Pasfield and his ancestors.

Wethersfield Land Records

Land records in early Essex County typically assign names to the various properties rather than use metes and bounds or acres. The assigned property names come from various sources, including names of previous owners of the property. Land transactions typically list the sellers and the buyers, property name, and the neighboring land owners. Many of these properties are bought and sold by groups of individuals who may or may not all be relatives.

Because of the lack of wills and available vital records, property ownership plays a critical role in tracing Phillip's ancestors. The locations of the early properties owned by Phillip's ancestors are next to the highway leading from the parish church in Wethersfield to market place in Braintree (see Exhibit 1) sometimes called the King's highway. Some of the properties frequently mentioned on this road are Golding, Allyns, Montonslane, and Mundies.

About 1570, Phillip's great grandfather Edward Pasfield purchased a property called Lightwaters that is on the western edge of Wethersfield next to the river. Phillip lived near the Lightwaters area during his lifetime. Nicholas Pasfield, father of Phillip, owned part of the Lightwaters property and two other properties called Triglottes and Thorleys. These three properties and their previous owners help provide clues as to Phillip's ancestors.^[3] Other properties that are referenced near Lightwaters include Shortland, Les Pigtail, Terryingtones, and Manfeld.

First Generation

1. Phillip Pasfield, son of Nicholas Pasfield and Mary Youngman alias Clark, was born about 1615 in Wethersfield and died after 3 Jun 1684 in Wethersfield.^[4] Phillip married Susan or Susannah Dyer in Essex County about 1641 in Essex County. Susan was born about 1617 in Essex County and died after 1696 in Wethersfield. She was the daughter of Mr. Dyer and Mary Payne.

Phillip first showed up in the records in court because someone was stealing his livestock. On 15 Jan 1630/31, Martin Gilbert stole a white ewe worth 10 shillings.^[5] Later Phillip came to court with his father Nicholas to accuse John Wallicker and Henry Wood of stealing their geese on 24 Nov 1637.^[6] These last two defendants were found guilty and fined and whipped.^[7]

In 1664, Phillip had his title of "gentleman" taken away by the herald officers of arms of the King.^[8] Phillip was mentioned in the 1670 hearth tax as a resident of Wethersfield.^[9] He was mentioned in the now missing will of his father Nicholas.^[10]

Wife Susan Dyer was given property by her mother Mary (Payne) Dyer in 1641. On 14 Jul 1682 in the court rolls of Great Henny parish, Phillip Pasfield of Wethersfield, yeoman, and Susan his wife surrendered^[11] a copyhold^[12] that Susan had received "as the next heir to Mary Dyer, deceased" for the "use of their youngest daughter Ann Pasfield."^[13]

Phillip did not mention any specific property by name but the implication from the will is that he had multiple properties that he authorized to be sold.

Phillip wrote his will on 3 Jun 1684. Phillip's estate was processed in Apr 1685 by wife Susannah.^[14] Susan outlived her husband by over 12 years and was subject to a Chancery lawsuit brought by her son Nicholas over collecting the rents on his Wethersfield properties.^[15]

Children from this marriage were:

- i. Susan Pasfield born about 1644 in Wethersfield and died in Mar 1653/54 in Wethersfield.^[16]
- ii. Nicholas Pasfield born about 1646 in Wethersfield and died after 1 Jan 1700/01 in Surry County, Virginia.^[17] He married Joane (---) about 1681 in Surry County. Nicholas filed a suit in the High Court of Chancery in London in 1677 over the payment of a mortgage on his properties to a Francis Strutt. Before he left for Virginia in 1676, he left brother-in-law Solomon Alston as his agent to collect rents from tenants in his absence.^[18] He received some money in the will of his father.^[19] Nicholas took in his nephew John Alston when he arrived in Surry County by 1693.^[20]
Nicholas was mentioned in the now missing will of grandfather Nicholas Pasfield. He was given ownership of properties named Triglots and Thorleys after the death of his father Phillip. In 1696, he sued his mother and others so that they would collect rents and maintain these properties in England for him.^[21]

- Phillip left his own will dated 9 Jan 1700/01 in Surry County. Joane lived at least until 22 Nov 1704.^[22]
- iii. Mary Pasfield born in 1649 in Wethersfield^[23] and died before 1684 in Wethersfield. Mary married Solomon Alston^[24] about 1667 in Essex County. She was deceased by the will of her father Phillip on 3 Jun 1684. Husband Solomon and children Mary, William, Philip, and John were mentioned in the will. Her son John migrated to Surry County to live with her brother Nicholas by 1693.^[25] Husband Solomon married next Lydia Pond on 25 Nov 1684 in Romford, Essex County^[26] and was buried on 20 Oct 1721 in Havering at Bower County, Essex.^[27] Lydia was buried on 22 Mar 1721/22.^[28]
 - iv. Ann Pasfield christened on 22 Jun 1653 in Wethersfield^[29] and died after 1696 in Essex County. Ann married John White about 1675 in Essex. As mentioned earlier, Ann received the property from her parents in 1682 that belonged to her grandmother. She surrendered this copyhold to Samuel Bigg, gent, on 28 Nov 1684.^[30] She also received a good portion of the estate of her father in his will. Ann and husband John White were also defendants in the suit brought by her brother Nicholas in 1696 over the collecting of rents from his property.

Second Generation (Phillip's Parents)

2. Nicholas Pasfield, son of Edward Pasfield and Mrs. Edward Pasfield, was born about 1585 in Wethersfield and died about 1670 in Wethersfield. Nicholas married 3. Mary Yongman alias Clark about 1612 in Wethersfield. Mary was born about 1583 in Wethersfield. Mary is the daughter of Humphrey Yongman alias Clark and Julian Leeds.

Nicholas or his cousin Nicholas Pasfield was brought into court on 26 Apr 1610 to answer to a charge of having ill company in his house.^[31] Nicholas owned a copyhold messuage^[32] in Wethersfield on 18 Feb 1618/19.^[33] Nicholas held the office of trustee of the Wethersfield parish on 26 Feb

On 1 Dec 1660, Nicholas Pasfield, yeoman, and others gave permission to Dudley Templer to lease a property called Franklyns Fenn for a period of 6 years.^[37] There is also a reference to a neighboring property called Lightwaters. Lightwaters had been previously split into multiple parcels. One parcel of Lightwaters had descended to Nicholas from his grandfather Edward Pasfield. Nicholas left a will which has been lost.

The name of his wife is unknown but can probably be surmised. Nicholas gave land called Triglotts and Thorleys first to his son Phillip during his life and then to grandson Nicholas Pasfield. Nicholas most likely obtained these properties from his marriage to Mary Yongman alias Clark. On 10 Dec 1591, Mary and sister Lydia were given an equal interest in both these properties in the will of their father Humphrey after the death of their mother.^[38] If one sister should die without heirs, both properties would be inherited by the survivor. Nicholas had possession of both of these properties, showing that probably only one of the daughters survived.

There is reason to suggest that Mary Youngman alias Clark was the surviving daughter. The name Lydia was never used as a family name by Nicholas' descendants whereas Mary is used in the next few generations. That does not eliminate the possibility that Nicholas married Lydia instead. It is also possible that Nicholas could have purchased these properties outright but there is no record of that happening either. The only record that names Mary is the will of father Humphrey Yongman alias Clark dated 10 Dec 1591, where she was given money in addition to the property mentioned.^[39]

The child from this marriage was:

- 1 i. Phillip Pasfield (born about 1615 in Wethersfield - died after 3 Jun 1684 in Wethersfield – see earlier)

Third Generation (Grandparents)

4. Edward Pasfield, son of Edward Pasfield and Agnes Livermore, was born about 1550 in Wethersfield and died after 1610 in Wethersfield. Edward married 5. Mrs. Edward Pasfield about 1577 in Wethersfield. She was born about 1554 in Wethersfield.

and Edward Jr. received money in this will. On 30 Oct 1598, Edward was mentioned in the will of his mother Agnes.^[42] Edward was called a “welbeloved kinsman” by Margaret Chapman in her will dated 2 Apr 1599.^[43]

Edward was a miller by profession. This profession brought him to court on three occasions. On 11 Sep 1602, his access to water was impeded by actions of Richard Garter, which caused him to lose profits for a “long time.”^[44] He was called Edward Pasfield the elder. Also, he was hauled into court for not being an apprentice as a miller for the requisite amount of time and fined two pounds a month on 30 Sep 1602.^[45] He evidently did not get the message. On 13 Jan 1603, he was hauled into court for the same reason and fined again.^[46]

Children from this marriage were:

- i. Edward Pasfield born about 1578 in Wethersfield and died after 5 Mar 1631/32 in Wethersfield.^[47] Edward married Dorcas (---) about 1604. As mentioned, he received money in the will of William Hewitt dated 6 Oct 1597.^[48] Edward left a will on 5 Mar 1632 in Wethersfield. He gave his wife use of mill lands called Lightwaters. After her death the property was to go to their son Edward.
- ii. Elizabeth Pasfield born about 1582 in Wethersfield. Elizabeth was only mentioned in the will of grandmother Agnes (Livermore) Pasfield on 30 Oct 1598.^[49]
- iii. Sarah Pasfield born about 1584 in Wethersfield. Sarah was only mentioned in the will of grandmother Agnes (Livermore) Pasfield on 30 Oct 1598.^[50]

6. Humphrey Yongman alias Clark, son of Humphrey Yongman alias Clark and Alice (---), was born about 1552 in Wethersfield and died after 10 Dec 1591^[51] in Wethersfield. It is not clear why the designation “alias” started being used as part of a last name. Using “alias” in the last name happened only for a short period in Essex County history from about 1500 to about 1640. The best guess is that the alias last name comes from the mother’s side of the family. In the case of the Yongmans, Humphrey’s father is just called Humphrey Yongman in 1521. In 1522, he is called Humphrey Clerke for the first time and later called Humphrey Clarke. There is a neighboring Clarke family to the Yongmans in the 1400s in Wethersfield but no connection has been determined.

Humphrey appeared only in wills during his lifetime. There is no specific record tying Humphrey to his father Humphrey. His grandfather 24. Humphrey Yongman had three known sons, Richard, John, and Humphrey, who could be the father. Richard was eliminated as a possible father because of the information found in the will of Richard’s wife Joan Spring. After Richard’s decease, Joan married Thomas Thorne. Joan left a will listing her children on 11 Jun 1581.^[52] The family of John the second son can be largely identified from the will of Richard Clarke of Wethersfield, a grandson to 24. Humphrey, dated 16 Sep 1596.^[53]

Given the information known about the families of Richard and John, placing Humphrey as a son of Humphrey Yongman alias Clark is logical. Because Humphrey has the same name as his father, it is hard to determine which Essex records apply to the father and which to the son. It is not known when his father died.

As mentioned earlier, Humphrey had two properties that he gave to daughters Mary and Lydia. These properties are called Triglotts and Thorleys. These properties have an interesting history. They were mentioned in the will of 131. Alice Cranfield on 11 Jul 1486 and later were owned by her stepson Richard Cranford. These lands were given to Thomas Golding Esq. on 12 Nov 1548.^[54] There is no record how these lands came into the possession of Humphrey Yongman alias Clarke.

Humphrey was mentioned in the will of father-in-law William Leeds on 23 Aug 1591.^[55] He was the husband of Julian, daughter of William. Julian was given money. Humphrey wrote his own will on 10 Dec 1591. He gave wife Julian the use of his land and goods during her lifetime.

Children from this marriage were:

- i. Agnes Yongman alias Clark born about 1574 in Wethersfield. Agnes was mentioned only in her father’s will and given land.^[56]
- ii. Lydia Yongman alias Clark born about 1580 in Wethersfield. Lydia was mentioned only in her father’s will, where she was given money and land after the death of her mother.^[57]

Fourth Generation (Great-Grandparents)

8. Edward Pasfield, son of Richard Pasfield and Mrs. Richard Pasfield, was born about 1527 in Wethersfield and died before Oct 1598 in Wethersfield. Edward married 9. Agnes Livermore about 1548 in Wethersfield. Agnes was born about 1529 in Wethersfield and died after 30 Oct 1598 in Wethersfield.^[58] She was the daughter of Thomas Livermore and Ann (---).

Edward witnessed the will of John Edwarde of Wethersfield on 28 Jun 1565.^[59] Edward was in several Chancery lawsuits with Robert King over land called Lightwaters once owned by Robert's grandfather John King. The property was sold to Edward by Robert's nephew John King. These lawsuits lasted several years around 1570.^[60] It was unclear how this case was resolved but both families owned properties named Lightwaters in the 1600s.^[61] It is possible that the actual land transfer of Lightwaters took place in 1582 when John Kinge sold to Edward Pasfield 1 garden, 1 orchard, 10 acres of arable land, 3 acres of messuage, and 10 acres of pasture for 40 pounds.^[62]

Obtaining the Lightwaters property brought several changes to Edward's life. This property was on the highway northwest of Wethersfield toward Finchingfield. Lightwaters evidently had access to enough water to support a mill. His son Edward became a miller.

Edward was a legatee in the will of father Richard Pasfield on 7 Nov 1573 and given money.^[63] About a month later on 6 Dec 1573, he was an executor on the will of brother-in-law Richard Brond alias Bolle on 6 Dec 1573.^[64] On 27 May 1577, he and a number of other town residents created a way to generate money to help pay for the poor of the parish.^[65] Edward and others were mentioned in the will of William Cherry on 10 Oct 1580.^[66]

16. Richard Pasfield, son of John Pasfield and Miss Stamer, was born about 1504 in Wethersfield and died after 7 Nov 1573 in Wethersfield.^[88] Richard married 17. Mrs. Richard Pasfield about 1526 in Wethersfield. She was born about 1505 in Essex County and died before 1573 in Wethersfield. Richard next married Grace (---) Annis about 1565 in Essex County. Grace was born about 1520 in Essex County and died after 10 Apr 1575 in Wethersfield.^[89]

The document used in identifying the mother of Richard Pasfield as Miss Stamer came from a court case in London's Court of Chancery about 1575.^[90] William Pasfield, a grandson of Richard, was trying to defend the title to his Wethersfield property against forfeiture and sale. He stated that "one John Stamer and Isabell his wife were heretofore seised to them and to their heirs" of some copyhold property after their death. William Pasfield further claimed that his grandfather Richard Pasfield "was owner of the copie holde land" stated in the lawsuit because Richard was an heir to 66. John Stamer and wife Isabel. Based on the age of John Stamer's only other known child John, it is most logical that Richard's mother rather than his wife was the Stamer heir in question.

John was a tanner by profession like his father.^[129] He surrendered to John Spring the use of a field called Manfeld and a pasture called Motennesmede in Wethersfield on 22 Mar 1508/9.^[130] Either his uncle John Hayward or his cousin named John Hayward moved to Norton, Suffolk County, England. By 1510, this John Hayward had a filed a suit in the Court of Requests in London demanding John Pasfield, a tanner, pay 110 pounds owed for monies collected from some unspecified lands John Hayward controlled in Wethersfield.^[131] John Pasfield sold a property called Goldyngs to cousin Richard Hayward, Walt Spring, 26. Thomas Spring Jr, John Livermore of Gosfield, and Thomas Cutt on 7 Feb 1516/17.^[132] He had inherited Goldyngs from his parents.

Children from this marriage were:

- i. William Pasfield born about 1501 in Wethersfield. William Pasfield married an unknown spouse about 1523. He was mentioned in the will of relative Isabel (Cranford) Spring on 29 Aug 1540.^[133] He could be the William Pasfield the elder that was one of several people indicted on 16 Jul 1569 for not taking care of a stream that bordered on their properties.^[134]
- 16 ii. Richard Pasfield (born about 1504 in Wethersfield - died after 7 Nov 1573 in Wethersfield – see earlier)

Seventh Generation (4th Great-Grandparents)

64. John Pasfield was born about 1446 in Wethersfield and died after 1516 in Wethersfield. John married 65. Miss Hayward about 1473 in Wethersfield. She was born about 1448 in Essex County. She was the daughter of John Hayward and Alice (---).

John was an executor of the will of mother-in-law Alice (---) Hayward Cranford on 11 Jul 1486.^[157] John was called a tanner by profession. John was a witness to brother-in-law Richard Hayward's 10 year lease of Goldings to his brother John Hayward on 21 Sep 1486.^[158] He was called a "barker". Richard and John Hayward were sons of his mother-in-law Alice Cranford by her first marriage.

John Pasfield was not given the land Goldings in the will of his mother-in-law Alice Cranford. Nevertheless, the executors of Alice's estate, in administering her will, formally transferred this land in Wethersfield plus all other appurtenances^[159] to John and to brothers-in-law Richard Hayward and William Stamer on 28 Mar 1490.^[160] Alice did not mention daughters in her will but there were some additional instructions given to the executors based on this land distribution. This land transferred from Alice's estate to these three parties probably showed that she had intentioned her unnamed daughters to have rights to this property even though Alice only listed her son Richard as inheritor.

Although the names are similar, this John Clenche does not appear to be father of the John Clenche who was a notable chancery judge who was born in 1533 and died in 1607. His son John Jr. was born no later than 1521 because he and other relatives were admitted by the manor to a vacant property on 8 Jun 1541. They committed to pay an annual rent to the manor. (Archives of the Essex County Record Office DP 119/25/105 (Colchester, England: ERO)). John Jr. may be the John Clenche mentioned in the will of John Edwarde in 1565. (Frederick G. Emmison, Essex Wills The Commissary Courts 1558-1569 (Chelmsford, Essex: ERO, 1993), 8:36.) John Sr. mentioned two sons that were under age 21 in the will. John was son and heir of William Stamer when he sold a messuage and garden in Wethersfield on the highway from Wethersfield to Braintree to Henry Northey Jr., Thomas Northey, John King and Thomas King on 10 Mar 1502/03.^[165] John was a witness to the purchase of a feoffment in Wethersfield by 48. John Yongman, his son Humphrey Yongman, John Stamer Jr., and others from William Rochester on 20 Jun 1521.^[166] John's will on 15 Jan 1527 left all his estate to his wife but did not mention any other relative. She did not leave a will directing who should have her property, which probably led to the court case brought by William Pasfield in 1575.

Children from this marriage were:

33 i. Miss Stamer (born about 1475 in Essex County – see earlier)

ii. John Stamer born about 1483 in Wethersfield and died after 29 Aug 1540 in Wethersfield.^[167] John married Ellen (---) about 1505 in Wethersfield. Thomas was a witness to a quitclaim of Robert Rochester and others to 131. Alice Cranford and her son John Hayward for the Blackmere End property in Wethersfield on 5 Feb 1484/85.^[170] This is the first mention of a Thomas Livermore in Wethersfield. On 28 Mar 1490, he was one of the individuals helping execute the will of 131. Alice Cranford in distributing a grant called Goldings in Wethersfield to her son Richard Hayward and her sons-in-law William Stamer and 64. John Pasfield.^[171] Thomas and others were executing the will of Thomas Loveland by selling a feoffment in Blakemer area of Wethersfield called Stanereth to Thomas Bregge on 14 Jun 1497.^[172] His sons Thomas and John were witnesses to this sale.

96. John Yongman was born about 1422 in Essex County. John married 97. Mrs. John Yongman about 1452 in Wethersfield. She was born about 1424 in Essex County.

John was first found in the records witnessing a feoffment called Crystemassysland being sold in Wethersfield on 15 Jun 1444.^[175] John and others purchased a cottage and garden in Wethersfield from John Aleyn Jr. on 3 Feb 1446/47.^[176] He was a witness to a lease from Thomas Smyth to 132. William Stamer and others for a messuage on the highway from Wethersfield to Braintree on 24 Jun 1453.^[177]

There are three transactions regarding a cottage and garden in Wethersfield on the road from Wethersfield to Braintree that involved John. John, John Aleyn Sr., and Henry Daunce quitclaimed this property to John Golding on 15 Feb 1453/54.^[178] For some reason, that transaction appeared to be somewhat reversed 9 days later.^[179] This time John Goldyng quitclaimed to John Yongman, 132.
